Hazelwood History

Even though Hazelwood can trace our history all the way back to 1673 and the discovery of the confluence of the Missouri and Mississippi, our modern history began in the 1940's with the construction of the Ford Motor Company Assembly Plant and the Wabash Transit Company developing here. By 1949, the area was so desirable that the Village of Hazelwood was incorporated into St. Louis County to prevent an attempt by Florissant to annex the area.

Between 1950 and 1960, the population of the Village of Hazelwood blossomed from 336 residents to 6,045. By 1969 the population of Hazelwood had grown so large they were able to apply for city status. Hazelwood effectively became a Constitutional Charter City on April 7, 1970, when the first Mayor and six Ward Council Members took office. Under Hazelwood's Charter, a City Manager is the administrative officer for the City.

Through several annexations, the City of Hazelwood has increased its population from 14,082 in 1970 to 25,214 in 2023. The population increase and greater demand of municipal services has caused City Hall to move several times from the first location on Pershall Road to North Lindbergh Boulevard, and finally to its current location at 415 Elm Grove Lane in June of 1984. A quilt depicting the City's history is on display in City Hall.

The City of Hazelwood offers much that is desired in a community. Because of the tremendous amount of industry and commercial development in Hazelwood, the City has a good tax base and the tax rate is very low. The numerous businesses and industries also provide employment for residents. Hazelwood offers shopping centers, vehicle sales, complete banking services, doctors, restaurants, hotels, churches of many denominations, and AAA rated school districts.
